The reformer Martin Luther wrote to his spouse with affectionate humor: “To my dear lady of the house, Katherine von Bora Luther, a preacher, beer brewer, gardener.” Sometimes he addressed her as “Lord Katie” or “my dear lady of the New Pig Market.” (There was a hog market near Katherine’s garden.) Recalling the story of Adam and Eve, he often called Katherine “my rib.”

Though some pious biographies characterized her as a docile housewife keeping busy with her embroidery as she ran the parsonage, Katherine von Bora (1499–1552) was in reality a strong, assertive businesswoman. She managed an enormous household. Her home, a former monastery, was a boardinghouse for university students and guests. Refugees from religious persecution could find shelter there. It was a hospital in times of plague. Katherine always deferred to Martin publicly, addressing him respectfully as Herr Doktor (Sir Doctor), but it is clear that she was the manager of the household. Many men thought Katherine was too outspoken, but she was a good match for her strong-minded husband. Like Martin, she remained true to her convictions, even when the world had different expectations.

(excerpted from a Gather magazine article by Joy Schroeder)

To download a printable PDF of the full article, visit www.gathermagazine.org
Published 10 times a year, Gather, the magazine of Women of the ELCA, offers articles, theological reflections and devotions to help readers grow in faith and engage in ministry and action. Each issue contains a thought-provoking Bible study written by one of a variety of pastors and authors from across the church.

SUBSCRIBE TODAY for only $19.95 by calling (844) 409-0576 or visiting gathermagazine.org.

UPCOMING BIBLE STUDIES

JANUARY–APRIL 2018

“Multiple meanings” by Mark Allan Powell: a four-session Bible study exploring how people empathize with a variety of biblical characters, apply biblical stories in their lives and respect other people’s experiences of those stories.

- Session one – Washing hands with distant hearts (Mark 7:1-12)
- Session two – Prepare the way of the Lord (Luke 3:3-17)
- Session three – The Good Samaritan (Luke 10:30-37)
- Session four – The Prodigal Son (Luke 15:11-20)

MAY 2018

“All are welcome,” by Julie A. Kanarr: an intergenerational devotional that examines biblical images of God’s welcome.

SUMMER 2018

“Let us pray” by Anna Madsen: a three-session Bible study that ponders what prayer is, why we engage in it and how communicating with God shapes us.

- Session one -- The paradoxes of prayer (1 Samuel 12:16-23)
- Session two -- The practices of prayer (Psalm 19:14)
- Session three -- The products of prayer (Romans 8:26-28)

FALL 2018

“Repentance” by Meghan Johnston Aelabouni: a three session Bible study that explores how we as Lutheran Christians understand the role of repentance in our faith, especially as we understand God’s grace to be unearned and freely given.

- Session one – Time after time: Turning to God
- Session two – If I could turn back time: Turning to others
- Session three – Turning points: Turning as the church to the world

DECEMBER 2018

Advent devotional, author TBA

UPCOMING BIBLE STUDIES

JANUARY–APRIL 2018

“Multiple meanings” by Mark Allan Powell: a four-session Bible study exploring how people empathize with a variety of biblical characters, apply biblical stories in their lives and respect other people’s experiences of those stories.

- Session one – Washing hands with distant hearts (Mark 7:1-12)
- Session two – Prepare the way of the Lord (Luke 3:3-17)
- Session three – The Good Samaritan (Luke 10:30-37)
- Session four – The Prodigal Son (Luke 15:11-20)

MAY 2018

“All are welcome,” by Julie A. Kanarr: an intergenerational devotional that examines biblical images of God’s welcome.

SUMMER 2018

“Let us pray” by Anna Madsen: a three-session Bible study that ponders what prayer is, why we engage in it and how communicating with God shapes us.

- Session one -- The paradoxes of prayer (1 Samuel 12:16-23)
- Session two -- The practices of prayer (Psalm 19:14)
- Session three -- The products of prayer (Romans 8:26-28)

FALL 2018

“Repentance” by Meghan Johnston Aelabouni: a three session Bible study that explores how we as Lutheran Christians understand the role of repentance in our faith, especially as we understand God’s grace to be unearned and freely given.

- Session one – Time after time: Turning to God
- Session two – If I could turn back time: Turning to others
- Session three – Turning points: Turning as the church to the world

DECEMBER 2018

Advent devotional, author TBA